Destinations in this Option

Mammoth Site

For centuries the bones lay buried, until discovered by chance in 1974 during excavating for a housing development, when earth moving equipment exposed South Dakota's greatest fossil treasure. Fortunately, through the work of local citizens, the Mammoth Site was preserved. Today it is the world's largest Columbian mammoth exhibit, and a world-renown research center for Pleistocene.

Evans Plunge

Swim, splash and soak in the warm mineral water of Evans Plunge Mineral Springs. This indoor/outdoor pool is naturally filled by 5000 gallons of 87 degree spring water. With slides, children's' pools, Tarzan rings, tubes, and health club, it will sure to delight the entire family. Groups and buses welcome.

Custer State Park Wildlife Loop

Wildlife Loop Road travels through 18 miles of open grasslands and pine-speckled hills that much of the park's wildlife calls home. Depending on the day, you might see bison, pronghorn, whitetail and mule deer, elk, coyotes, burros, prairie dogs, eagles, hawks, and a variety of other birds. A medley of colorful wildflowers and prairie grasses surround the road, making for a picturesque drive.

Mount Rushmore

Mount Rushmore National Memorial is a large-scale mountain sculpture by artist Gutzon Borglum. The figures of America's most prominent U.S. presidents--George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt—represent 150 years of American history.

Black Elk Peak (formerly Harney Peak)

Black Elk Peak is the highest natural point in South Dakota. It is the highest point east of the Rockies and west of the Pyrenees mountain range in Europe. It lies in the Black Elk Wilderness area, in southern Pennington County, in the Black Hills National Forest.

Sylvan Lake

Sylvan Lake, known as the "crown jewel" of Custer State Park, is located in the Black Hills of South Dakota. It presents a relaxing setting and plenty of exploring opportunities to Scouts.

Crazy Horse Memorial & Laser Light Show

A mythic warrior, a famed artist, his family and a canvas composed of granite are the elements that comprise the legendary past, present and future of the Crazy Horse Memorial.

The Indian Museum of North America, and the adjoining Welcome Center and Native American Educational and Cultural Center, feature more than 12,000 contemporary and historic items, from pre-Colombian to contemporary times. The new Mountain Museum wing helps explain the work behind the scenes, augmenting the introductory "Dynamite & Dreams" movie at the Welcome Center.

From mid-May to mid-October, the storytelling continues each night at dark with the "Legends in Light" laser-light show projected on the mountain carving.

Minuteman Missile National Historic Site

Minuteman Missile National Historic Site is one of the nation's newest national park areas. The park was established by Congress in 1999 and consists of a nuclear missile silo and launch control facility. From this seemingly isolated patch of Midwestern prairie, United States Air Force officers could have launched intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBM) at targets in the Soviet Union. With the simple turn of keys, nuclear missiles would have been exchanged with the Soviet Union, making real one of the greatest fears of the 20th Century, nuclear war.

Badlands National Park

The Lakota gave this land its name, "Mako Sica," meaning "land bad." Located in southwestern South Dakota, Badlands National Park consists of 244,000 acres of sharply eroded buttes, pinnacles and spires blended with the largest protected mixed grass prairie in the United States. It is desolation at its truest, where you can look for miles and see no sign of civilization.

Devil's Tower National Monument

Devil's Tower National Monument, located near Sundance, Wyoming, is a most improbable geological rock formation, sticking up a thousand feet in the air above the surrounding valley like some giant, prehistoric tree-stump. Devil's Tower was also the setting for the movie, "Close Encounters of the Third Kind."

EXPEDITION: BLACK HILLS

Overview

In 2015, the Medicine Mountain Scout Ranch & Adventure Base piloted our first Expedition: Black Hills program with Troop 110 from Kentucky and it was a great success and provided their unit with a once and a lifetime experience in the Black Hills.

In 2016, Medicine Mountain hosted several units that toured the Black Hills through our Expedition: Black Hills program. Our local team of experts will plan out a week long (Monday – Friday) adventure for your unit where you visit the sights and sounds on the Black Hills. This program is entirely customized to your unit Alternatively, our team can also mix and match our camp program with the Expedition: Black Hills program. This allows units to get a tradition summer camp experience in addition to touring the Black Hills. Typically we see units participate in camp programming Monday through Tuesday and tour Wednesday through Friday.

The bottom line is that we can custom craft a week for your unit based upon what they want to accomplish on their trip to the beautiful Black Hills of South Dakota.

Getting to Camp

The Expedition: Black Hills program is based out of the Medicine Mountain Scout Ranch & Adventure Base located at:

24201 Bobcat Road
Custer, South Dakota 57730

It is the responsibility of the unit to arrange their travel to and from Medicine Mountain. At this time, our team does not arrange or serve as a booking agent for travel to and from Medicine Mountain. However, we have some general tips and knowledge to pass along from our personal experience with traveling to South Dakota.

- It can be expensive to fly into Rapid City, SD (RAP). It is the closest commercial airport to Medicine Mountain being one hour away.
- Budget airlines such as Allegiant fly into the Sioux Falls Regional Airport and could provide cheaper travel from various destinations.
- Most units opt to fly into the Denver International Airport, which is six hours away from Medicine Mountain. Transportation can be provided by our transportation group for an additional fee, however it may be cheaper to rent vehicles depending on the amount of people.
- Medicine Mountain does have ample room for the parking of off loading of large commercial coach buses. A number of troops choose to use this method to get to and from Medicine Mountain.
- Our team can arrange for special hotel rates for the drivers of commercial coach buses if your unit is looking for the bus to remain in the Black Hills for the week.
